

GAS TURBINE ARRANGEMENT

Abstract

A gas turbine arrangement having a transmission (1) of planetary gear type with fixed planet carrier, and an arrangement for driving one or more auxiliary units (12), and is characterized in that at least one of the auxiliary units (12) is operatively connected to a planet wheel shaft (10) forming part of the transmission (1). The invention helps to simplify the design construction of the transmission.